WELCOME

The Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) Community & Family Preparedness (CFP) Program welcomes disaster educators to FEMA's Disaster Preparedness and Mitigation Library on CD-ROM 1998 Edition.

FEMA's CFP Program works with state and local emergency managers, first responder groups, voluntary organizations and community groups, school systems, business and industry, and media outlets to organize outreach efforts and inform the public about natural disasters and emergencies.

FEMA's CD-ROM 1998 Edition is part of a continuing CFP series of resources to make preparedness information available to local programs, share ideas and activities from around the country, and coordinate with other national organizations involved in disaster preparedness.

FEMA's CD-ROM 1998 Edition offers multiple natural hazard brochures, factsheets, and manuals on disaster preparedness, mitigation, response and recovery from:

- FEMA's CFP Program, Mitigation Directorate, and National Flood Insurance Program
- American Red Cross
- Humanitarian Resource Institute
- National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration/National Weather Service
- National Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster
- Texas Agricultural Extension Service
- FEMA's United States Fire Administration
- Wind Research Center, Texas Tech University
